Independent Colleges and Universities: The Value of Mission-Driven Teaching Excellence

Dr. Corbin Campbell

Tuesday, April 2nd, 2 to 3 PM ET

Independent colleges and universities that focus on the liberal arts often have a mission and an academic infrastructure that supports teaching improvement, and it should be celebrated!

Yet, more can be done.

During the webinar, you will:

Explore the diverse terrain of teaching across various academic contexts, disciplines, and course settings to improve instruction.

Identify policies and cultures that are essential to prioritize teaching and encourage faculty development.

Discover best practices from exemplary institutions, including equity-based and culturally relevant evidence-based practices you can use to support student learning.
